Why attend

Uncontrolled changes are a leading cause of overruns and quality problems in projects. This course explains how to set up change control and configuration management: change request processes, impact assessment, change boards, baselines, document and version control, and configuration audits across engineering and IT projects.

Every change has a cost, but not every change is visible. You will learn to control changes so decisions are deliberate and documented.

Professional Problems This Course Is Designed to Solve

• Difficulty translating subject knowledge into practical workplace decisions.
• Inconsistent approaches to the activities covered in the course outline.
• Lack of a structured plan for applying and reviewing new skills.

Course methodology

Change request exercises, impact assessment workshops, case studies and process design.
